STALLION SERVICE RULES & REGULATIONS:

- The service must be taken prior to 31st July 2026, otherwise the service will be null and void and no refund/exchange will be offered.
- Stallion owners at time of service must be financial Members of The Australian Stock Horse Society and the stallion must be Sire Registered and DNA Recorded with The Australian Stock Horse Society at time of nomination.
- Mares may be served a maximum of two cycles and any additional returns must be negotiated between the stallion owner and purchaser. Stallion owners are not obligated to provide further free returns or live foal guarantees for difficult breeders.
- In the event of the mare aborting the foal or the foal being still born, any returns must be negotiated between the service provider and prize winner.
- The mare owner is responsible for ensuring that the mare is free of any contagious diseases and is in normal breeding condition.
The mare owner agrees to abide by any delivery conditions imposed by the stallion owner.
- Transportation of the mare to and from the premises where the stallion is standing is the responsibility of the prize winner. Any transport costs for semen to the insemination location is the responsibility of the prize winner.
- Stallion owners to negotiate agistment costs with the prize winner.
- If the stallion dies, is gelded, becomes infertile or unfit for service prior to the service being taken, the prize for a free service becomes null and void.
- If the stallion owner dies, goes into liquidation, is not contactable prior to the service being taken, the prize for a free service becomes null and void.
- If the stallion is sold prior to the service being taken, the prize for a free service becomes null and void.
- The type of service offered (natural, artificial insemination or both) if not specified by the stallion owner, is to be negotiated between the stallion owner and the prize winner.
- The stallion owner is authorised to engage a veterinarian at the mare owner's expense to perform any service or treatment, as the stallion owner or senior employee of the stallion owner considers necessary and reasonable, at their absolute discretion.
- The mare owner on collection of the mare from the premises where the stallion is standing must pay any outstanding veterinarian and/or agistment fees.
- The stallion owner has the right to request that the mare owner is to have the mare pregnancy tested within 60 days at the mare owner's expense.
- In relation to matters that may need to be negotiated between the stallion owner and mare owner, the Society will not be involved in the negotiation of these matters or any disputes that may arise in relation to them.
- The Australian Stock Horse Society accepts no responsibility for any accident, disease, death or injury to any horse and the stallion owner and the mare owner each indemnify and shall keep indemnified the Society against any claim, action, loss or liability which may be made against or incurred by the Society arising directly or indirectly in relation to the respective service.
- Any advertising opportunities offered must comply with Society rules and regulations and the usual ASHS Journal advertising requirements and deadlines. The advertising deadlines for 2025 journals are available on the Society website: <https://ashs.com.au/news-and-media/journaladvertising/advertising-prices-and-booking-forms/>.
- Class Prize Services are not transferable or redeemable for cash.
